

SourceTech Tellus® Web™

Both administrators and regular users are in need of having updated information about colleagues at their fingertips. The information can be anything from presence, address, telephone number and organization affiliation etc. All this is available at SourceTech Tellus®Web™!

Search

It's easy to search for a colleague in Tellus web. Information about address, phone number, presence etc. is easy to find. There are several ways of performing a search. Use quick search to get information fast, you will see a detailed pane with your colleagues picture, number information and so on. A more advanced search is also available, use the drop list to choose criteria for the search. The "click & search" function gives an overview over the organization structure and the staff that belongs to respective department. All information links to similar information, just keep clicking to find what you are looking for!

Presence

In Tellus web the users can decide what should happen with the telephone during a meeting for example. The telephone can be diverted to the switchboard or to a voicemail system that automatically will play a accurate referral message to the caller. Tellus offers several ways to control your presence and absence - via the web client, through MyTellus™, from the phone, via SMS, from the calendar or by the voicemail system.

User friendly

The functions in Tellus Web makes it easy for the users to search for their colleges, change their settings, make groups etc. The users can change their own personal settings so that it is suitable for the individual. What settings they are allowed to change depends on the role that the administrator has given them. User groups can be created for projects or just for a group of colleges that want to grab lunch together. It is possible to send messages to all members in the group. The users have an easy tool for their presence in the web client. They can decide if they want to answer their calls on another phone etc.

Micro Blog

Every Tellus user has a micro blog. In the web client and in MyTellus™ it is possible to update this. The status update is shown in the web client and in SourceTech Tellus® Operator™. It is possible to create lists on persons to follow.

SourceTech Tellus® supports all leading web browsers for the most common operating systems. This means that no software needs to be installed to gain access to Tellus, a web browser on a computer network is all - easy and powerful!
